

Day 1 - we are exploring our beliefs about Miracles and what's possible. Very evocative. We played with turning water salty and then sweet. Turning it into wine or margaritas is next!

Day 2 was very cool. We looked at WHY we believed we couldn't make water taste sweet or salty. Some very interesting answers including getting hurt or worse for using intuitive gifts. Some nice healings going on too. Feeling more steady and ready to turn that water into something else!

Day 3 - moving pens and pencils! Mine said that was my job! Then exploring beliefs about physical "reality" and our abilities. Very interesting experiences in what I am expecting and perceiving.

Day 4 - this class has been so fun! We played with the nature of time and practiced "remembering our future". We also learned that if we don't like our future, we can change it. Now that's worth the price of admission!!!

Day 5 - was wonderful. I got help getting more connected to Creator/God and sorting out whose job is whose. I've been confused and searching for a long time! Now that I understand, life is a lot easier :) and more fun!
